2011 NATMA FOUNDATION SCHOLARSHIP

Introduction

Founded in 1984, the North American Taiwanese Medical Association (NATMA) is a professional organization comprised of Taiwanese American physicians, dentists and allied health professionals. It now consists of 16 regional chapters and over 1,400 members across the United States. NATMA'S mission is to represent medical, dental and other health professionals of Taiwanese descent, and to promote educational and cultural exchange among its members and their communities.

NATMA Foundation is offering a total of five (5) $ 1,000 scholarship grants to two medical/dental/allied health students and three residents or fellow-in-training of Taiwanese American descent to recognize their academic excellence and contributions to Taiwanese American community.

Eligibility

Medical, dental or allied health students, residents or fellows of Taiwanese American descent who are in good standing and under training at an accredited U.S. institution or program. Students must complete at least one year of graduate school study with available transcript.
